

Keystone State Start Up

The Continental Congress met that day
To tell King George there was another way
For men to live in harmony and pay
When government provides them with a say
In how their hard-earned money will or may
Be spent for what the people need each day.

A major river lines the Eastern edge.
The Delaware once acted as a wedge
For those who vowed to make the solemn pledge
To have our soldiers stop the British "Reds".

Ben Franklin and his buddies had to know
The art of challenging the status quo
Would make their comfort level ebb and flow
These delegates were first to "just say no!"

The Keystone state has been a cornerstone
For rugged folks who want to make their own
Decisions for their families and their plight
Without the thought of giving up the right
To have the unrestricted liberty
Thus knowing well the light of being free.

© Bill Amirault – 2006